

List of Flip's Service Providers that handle Student Data

Flip uses a handful of third-party service providers - other companies that provide software services that help us do business. These service providers have access to student data and help us do things like manage our data centers and provide moderation services to keep Flip a reliable and safe platform. Our service providers have all signed a Data Protection Agreement with us which stipulates that any data we share with them will be used exclusively to provide services to us and not for any other purposes and must adhere to Microsoft's Supplier Security & Privacy Assurance program requirements for the duration of the contract. The following lists all service providers that have access to student data:

Service Provider	Purpose	Data Storage Location
Amazon Web Services	Hosts our services	USA
New Relic	Monitors our service transactions and health	USA
